13 of 14 review helpful Becoming Moral By John M Repp In Christopher Boehm's earlier book Hierarchy in the Forest the Evolution of Egalitarian Behavior 1999 he describes how hunter gatherer and horticultural societies created egalitarian societies. The band or tribe members co operated to prevent alpha type males from dominating their group. Having language helped them achieve this political equality which chimpanze. From the age of Darwin to the present day biologists have been grappling with the origins of our moral sense. Why if the human instinct to survive and reproduce is "selfish" do people engage in self sacrifice and even develop ideas like virtue and shame to justify that altruism. Many theories have been put forth some emphasizing the role of nepotism others emphasizing the advantages of reciprocation or group selection effects. But evolutionary anthro Donald Black University Professor of the Social Sciences University of Virginia and author of Moral Time Christopher Boehm's Moral Origins is a tour de force of a sort rarely seen in any science. He seeks nothing less than to discover
