8 of 8 review helpful Review by J Colannino By Joseph Colannino Expert political judgment it sounds like an oxymoron but only because it is Philip E Tetlock's groundbreaking research shows that experts are no better than the rest of us when it comes to political prognostication. But then again you probably had a sneaking hunch that that was so. You need rely on hunches no more. Tetlock is Professor of Leadership at the University of Pennsylvania. The intelligence failures surrounding the invasion of Iraq dramatically illustrate the necessity of developing standards for evaluating expert opinion. This book fills that need. Here Philip E Tetlock explores what constitutes good judgment in predicting future events and looks at why experts are often wrong in their forecasts. Tetlock first discusses arguments about whether the world is too complex for people to find the tools to understand political judgment.
