fellowship we recover from sex and/or love addiction or avoidance anorexia by sharing experience Being With and Saying Goodbye: Cultivating Therapeutic Attitude in Professional Practice:

At a time of increasing financial pressure on families as well as the services that support them children are doubly disadvantaged. The economical mass provision of proven approaches appears to be an unquestionable strategy. In this frank and revealing book written by an experienced child and adolescent psychiatrist of eclectic and questioning persuasion the argument is made that we are travelling in the wrong direction. A blinkered pursuit of empirical evidence and... The contemporary paradox of care is that even as medical science has advanced so care that compassionate engagement that is the mainspring of medicine has receded. Andrew West offers a passionate personal and yes often controversial response to this point.
